
Helping Individuals and Companies Adapt to a Changing Environment!

“Don received the highest rating ever from the meeting participants! They simply couldn’t get enough.”

- Raytheon Corp.

“Our people are still talking about your presentation...and it’s been over two weeks! It was an absolutely perfect way to kick off our strategy session, forcing us to look at things in new ways.”

- Robert Bosch Corp.

Phone: +1-805-275-1078

Fax: +1-805-456-3825

Don@GilmanConsultingGroup.com

Open Innovation

This keynote explores the emerging trend of innovating beyond an organization’s borders, leveraging customers, competitors, and even other companies in seemingly unrelated fields. This entertaining and challenging speech is guaranteed to open the audience’s mind to entirely new ways of coming up with the next revolutionary idea.

Visioneering

How would you change your strategy if you knew what the future held? If an emerging trend halfway around the world was about to make your product or service obsolete, wouldn’t you want to know? In this keynote, ten emerging trends are identified and their impact on your industry is examined. This customized keynote is an unforgettable, dynamic, and provocative event that’s sure to have attendees buzzing.

Chameleon Corporations

What does it take to compete in today’s hyper-competitive world? Does past success guarantee future wins? Can the size of my large company be a disadvantage? This keynote addresses the unique challenges of medium and large successful companies, especially when faced with competitors that are small, nimble, and biting at your heels! Learn proven techniques that enable you to “change your color” and adapt to evolving technology and market conditions even faster than your competition.

Don Gilman - Speaker Biography

Don, a native of Santa Barbara, California, holds advanced degrees in Engineering Physics, Nuclear Engineering, Engineering Management, and is completing his Doctorate in Organization Change from Pepperdine University in Los Angeles, California. For almost 20 years, Don has been privileged to speak to thousands of people at hundreds of events around the world. Known for his high-energy presentation style, Don blends entertainment with value, giving the audience members content they will remember and can apply on a daily basis. In addition to speaking, Don also trains and consults with companies around the world, and has recently returned from two years in Europe. His new book, “Chameleon Corporations: How to Successfully Adapt to a Changing Environment,” is scheduled to hit bookstands later this year.